Overview

Roskel won the AIS Gold award for this installation at The Carrick Golf Club, Loch Lomond, which aspires to be one of the finest golf and leisure facilities in the UK. The designers, Spa Developments, spared no expense on the intricacy of the design, and quality of finishes. Roskel were required to provide feature work to all areas, overcoming many technical difficulties in the process – hardly a straight wall or ceiling line across the whole project.

Scope of Works

Ceilings: Plasterboard Ceilings including

- Stepped Plasterboard Bulkheads incorporating Light Troughs
- Curved Stepped Feature Ceilings
- Moisture Resistant Ceilings to aggressive Shower and Pool areas
- Ceiling Furniture, flush finished, including over 300 circular access panels

Dry Lining:

- Curved Signature Walls to Reception staircase
- Multilayer board structures over 2 floors supporting feature walls
- High Acoustic Performance walls to Treatment rooms
